Cosmetic Acupuncture

Cosmetic acupuncture is a procedure that is becoming increasingly sought after by many people who do not wish to go to the extremes of having cosmetic surgery. By improving the flow of Qi and Blood to the face the cosmetic acupuncture procedure is a very effective means of removing fine lines around the eyes, lips, and nose and softening deeper lines. It also helps to reduce bags under the eyes, improve dark circles and firm up chin lines. Because there are no side effects it becomes a very attractive choice for people and a very useful tool in the practitioners medicine bag.

Course Presenter

Deirdre Courtney has a Masters Degree in Traditional Chinese Medicine from “Yo San University” Los Angeles, California, USA and has been a teacher and practitioner of Chinese medicine for sixteen years. She is Principal Acupuncture lecturer at the College of Naturopathic Medicine and runs her practice in Blackrock. She is a Director of the Institute of East West Medical Sciences and is currently a board member of the European Traditional Chinese Medicine Association and council member of the Irish Register of Chinese Herbal Medicine. She also holds a current licentiate from the National Certification Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine (NCCAOM) in the United States.
